PREFACE

The present era of globalization, language and literature have emerged as the most fascinating area in the research and communicative aspects. The main motto of the National Conference 'World Poetry day – Musings of Great Poets' is to confer the musings of great poets. It is a scholastic platform to exchange ideas that spring forth global literature. It is going to be an enthralling experience in the field of research. This book provides a platform to the English faculty and research scholars to explore literary beauty of poetry.

It is a heartening academic venture of Department of English, RGM CET, Nandyal to make a pursuit of great poetry in terms of ELT and relevance of poetry to the present youth. The call for papers to be presented in the conference has gained overwhelming responses from academicians, scholars across the nation. We received nearly 60 papers from different states of the country. However, the editorial panel has recommended 50 papers for publication. It is highly encouraging to receive papers from the long distant states like Haryana, West Bengal and Jammu & Kashmir.

This conference is going to be an extraordinary gathering of scholars, researchers and enthusiasts. The platform will ignite Deliberations, Plenary Sessions and Talks will enthrall the audiences to the best possible manner. The conference is going to be a celebration of literature and language by paying tribute to the greatest poets such as Rabindranath Tagore (Viswa kavi), nature poets of Elizabethan era, vernacular poetry, revolutionary poets of telugu - Sri Sri, Jashuava and Hindi poets like Vinod Kumar Shukla. Many scholarly papers presented the Indian poets, English poets with alarming messages. The varied themes of Romanticism, Mysticism and Magical Realism, Surrealism have been presented by the scholars. The organizing committee express their heartfelt gratitude to the institution Chairman Dr. Shanthi Ramudu garu for the encouragement to take up scholastic ventures in the Humanities department. We are indebted to the Principal Dr.T.Jayachandra Prasad for granting us permission to organize this conference. We are thankful to Dr. D.V.Ashok Kumar, Director and Dr. RamiReddy, Dean Students' Affairs, RGM CET for the guidance and support. We would like to acknowledge the benevolent gestures of the speaker Sri Goreti Venkanna garu, MLC, Telangana for accepting our humble request. We are also thankful to Dr. D.R. Pratima Roy, Head, Department of English, ST.Joseph's Degree College, Kurnool for accepting to conduct plenary sessions. We express our thanks to the faculty members of Department of English for their constant support and collaboration. Finally, we wish to acknowledge our contributors who made this book a reality.

Message from the Chief Patron

RGM College of Engineering & Technology

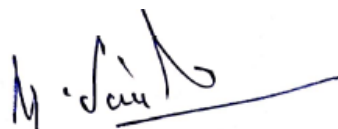

(AUTONOMOUS) Nandyal (Dist), A.P. India

Rajeev Gandhi Memorial College of Engineering and Technology (RGM CET), Nandyal is always in the forefront to organize scholastic events and encourage the budding researchers to innovatively create. Research is the top priority at RGM CET and we strongly believe that only by research and innovation, our country would take a new stride in development. So, this year's National Conference on "World Poetry Day – Musings of Great Poets" will focus on numerous poetic dimensions, literary techniques and language aspects, enhancing the literary research.

The Conference is scheduled with an objective to bring different ideologies on a single platform and provide opportunities to exchange ideas and establish research collaboration. WPD '24 has been planned to provide maximum benefit and learning experience to all the participants. As a part of this conference, sessions on different themes, key note addresses from eminent professors and opportunity to network with the researchers are exhaustively planned. These will immensely help the participants. It gives me enormous pleasure to invite all the academicians and researchers for this event.

RGM CET is a Centre for Excellence in the research domain with a commitment to ensure the students learn, grow and broaden their horizon of knowledge by indulging into diverse spheres of learning. In our endeavour to raise the standards of discourse, we continue to be abreast of the changing needs of our stakeholders globally. Research activities across the fields of engineering, science, management and humanities pave the way for the industrial world to surge forward with huge advancements. As an educational institution, we encourage and support research by establishing a suitable platform for the research community to interact with each other and to share the knowledge, and this Conference is one such platform. I extend my best wishes to the organizers and wish them all a great success.

Message from the Principal

RGM College of Engineering & Technology

(AUTONOMOUS) Nandyal (Dist), A.P. India

It gives me immense pleasure to observe that the Department of English is organizing a National Conference, 'World Poetry Day – Musings of Great Poets' to mark the World Poetry Day on March 21st, 2024. Unlike other conferences which focus on technical trends, this conference focuses on literary aspects and language. By this, faculty members, scholars and students will benefit by analyzing different ideologies, techniques and nature- human conflict in poems. I hope this WPD '24 will impart noble culture and values among learned faculty members and I wish these noble ideas will be shared to the student community.

This National Conference has primarily envisioned in providing a platform for Academicians, and Doctoral scholars to interact on various themes in poetry. This year, WPD '24 is expected to deliver exciting, enlightening and apprising deliberations. We greatly value the participations and we look forward to the insightful perception and thought of the invited speakers at RGM CET.

This practice provides scope for the continuous growth in the ideas of budding scholars and supports to provide network among eminent people across the globe. This leads the country to drive in progressive mode on par with the developed countries in the field of satisfying the needs of the society. I extend my hearty congratulations to the organizers of the conference and appreciate their efforts. My best wishes for the success of the conference!

With best wishes
